The Focus Camp is an all-day camp committed to providing student an opportunity to develop their skills in a fun and exciting environment. The camp is unique in the way that it blends faith and the discipline of physical training. Each day begins and ends with an energetic gathering of students from all the camps.

The Camp is directed by Robb Belschner, former varsity women's basketball coach at Andover High School. Over 40 volunteers service to make the Focus Camp one of the greatest weeks of a student's summer. The positive and creative atmosphere of the camp has resulted in many past campers returning as volunteer staff when they are older. This component has made the Focus Camp an ideal environment for mentoring and leadership development.
